Origin

"The man with a new idea is a crank until the idea succeeds."
-Twain

These words of wisdom by Twain, to a great extent, fit in aptly when talking of the origination of CIP LEGIT, Intellectual Property Counsels.

The practice has been set up by Mr. Rajan Ailavadi, a proficient Patent Attorney with years of research and legal experience dealing with technology and Intellectual Property Matters.

Rajan, who prior to being looked upon as another crank had a great innings full of enriching learning and intensive experience with one of the oldest and largest IP Law Firm in the Country.

Having received his Bachelors of Law from University of Delhi, India and his Senior Management Programme [SMP] from Indian Institute of Management Calcutta, India after obtaining his Bachelor of Technology and Masters of Technology with focus on Mechanical Engineering, is a regular invitee at various forums to deliver talks on IP issues in India and has successfully handled numerous contentious and non-contentious IP matters of several National and International Companies in Mechanical, Electrical, Electronics & Telecommunication and Chemical field.

"The best way to predict the future is to invent it."

Alan Kay, 1971
